Excerpt from Chow-Chow, Vol. 2 of 2: Being Selections From a Journal Kept in India, Egypt, and Syria, 1867

During the monsoon, and particularly near Guneskondy, we often see an encampment of wild-looking men, women, and still wilder, untameable, little children.

They are called Weyds, and are aboriginal, with a language distinct from all other Hindoo dialects. They carry about medicines for sale to the neighbouring villages. I have frequently met them on the plains, when they used to show me their medicines, principally powdered herbs - some in gourds, others in cocoa-nut shells.

Crystal Thomas:

As a scholar exactly feel bored in order to reading. If their teacher expected them to go to the library or even make summary for some book, they are complained. Just tiny students that has reading's heart and soul or real their hobby. They just do what the professor want, like asked to go to the library. They go to presently there but nothing reading really. Any students feel that looking at is not important, boring along with can't see colorful images on there. Yeah, it is to get complicated. Book is very important to suit your needs. As we know that on this period, many ways to get whatever you want. Likewise word says, ways to reach Chinese's country. So , this Chow-Chow, Vol. 2 of 2: Being Selections From a Journal Kept in India, Egypt, and Syria,
