Cruising the Intracoastal Waterway (ICW) is an experience of a lifetime. It's challenging, it's exciting, it'll test your mettle and you'll see new things and meet new people. You will experience at least one heart stopping moment a day! You will get more opportunities for such "excitement" spending nine months a year on a boat, especially cruising the shallows of the ICW. However, there are many things to consider to get ready and once on the way, there are over 140 hazards that you ought to know about that we encountered on our Spring of 2015 trip north. This book contains charts of the hazards and how to navigate them safely along with things you may not have thought of like how to get your house ready for a nine month absence or for that matter how to get yourself ready! It's the information age and the volume of data out there is staggering but what's useful? I'll cover the latest apps and then give some tips we've learned over the years to avoid hard knocks and make life easier. So relax and read how to get ready for the adventure you've looked forward to all your life. Bob423
